

Regents Okay Aid Boost

by Mike Moran

The University of Omaha Board of Regents has okayed the raising of the Athletic Department budget ceiling from the present 29 thousand dollars to 40 thousand for the next budget year.

The 11 thousand dollar increase will be left up to the department as to how it will be raised. Ideas range from increased gate receipts and the forming of "booster clubs" to getting an increase from the Student Activities fee.

The Athletic Department gets only three dollars per student under the present setup or a net of twelve thousand dollars. That breaks down to the somewhat paltry sum of 40 cents a game for football, 20 cents per basketball game and so forth and so on.

The proposed Activity Fee increase would be for six dollars a student or 24 thousand dollars per year from the kitty. The money is there and not all of it is being used.

The absolute ceiling for operating expenses, however, will still be set at 40 thousand dollars. Any money taken in over that amount must be put away in reserve for use in later years. That would mean less work in the future if there was a surplus.

No more grants

An important facet of the plan is that there would not be, unfortunately, an increase in the number of athletic grants-in-aid for our bread and butter boys who knock heads on the field.

Sixty scholarships would still be the limit, but the extra money might go to finance better equipment, a training table, larger planes to handle enough players and other personnel so that a road trip might be made in a major league manner, and other improvements.

The need for more money is apparent for these reasons:

1. Increasing competition from area colleges for the recruiting of student-athletes from Omaha.
2. The better student-athlete is being offered the "full ride" grant by all Big Eight, Missouri Valley, North Central, Big Ten and other conferences, including some CIC schools. Also, the junior colleges and Nebraska State Colleges are doing this same thing.
3. Upgrading of schedules and competition.
4. Necessity of recruiting student-athletes from outside Omaha and from the junior colleges.
5. The sad lack of part-time jobs offered the athletes by the University and the community.

This issue will be decided when the new budget is drawn up some time next spring.

AA College Changes English Requirements

At a meeting of the Applied Arts faculty Friday a vote to change the English requirements was proposed and passed.

English 109 will no longer fulfill part of the degree requirements. If, after a student takes his proficiency exam in English, he falls into the 109 category, he will now have to take English 111 and 112 in addition to his upper level English courses.

Set to become effective next semester, this will not change the requirements for present students. It will, however, effect former students not attending the University now. In other words, students who come back to school starting next semester will fall under the new ruling.

Under the new ruling, students who pass the proficiency to initially enroll in English 112 will not be effected.

Radio-TV Frat May Start Here

Plans are now underway to test student interest in a national Radio-TV honor fraternity.

An initial meeting for interested students will be held at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in room 304 of the Bail Student Center. A nucleus of six prospective members is needed before application for a charter can be made.

The purpose of the fraternity is "To encourage and recognize outstanding radio and television achievements among college students of high scholastic standing." Members must maintain a "B" average in radio-tv courses and a "C" in all other college work.

For more information prior to the meeting, call Harold Schneider, 556-4329.

Answers to Parking Rest With Regents

Meetings are being held by the Regents parking committee in an attempt to arrive at a feasible solution to the Omaha University parking problem. The parking problem will be the topic of a special meeting to be held November 18 by the Board of Regents.

Several suggestions to combat the parking problem have been proposed. Charging a minimum amount for the campus meters was suggested by one of the regents. Charging a flat rate for a parking permit, a parking building, and a point system which would deny students who violate the parking rules a place to park have also been proposed.

The Omaha Transit Company is studying gathering points at which students could be shuttled to the campus.

"Necessity—not a luxury"

A survey is being conducted to establish the number of cars being parked both on and off campus at a given time and those cars not being used. Dean Pflasterer said that driving to school has become a necessity and not a luxury since many of the students work.

Complaints have been received concerning students who park in front of homes in the area surrounding the campus. This clutters the neighborhoods and, in turn, reflects on the university.

Administrative Dean Kirk Naylor reported that 2,000 more parking permits have been issued at this time than issued last year. The increase in enrollment totals 670.

Dean Pflasterer also stated that any constructive ideas on a solution to the problem would be appreciated.

The Regents will hold a special meeting November 18 to discuss the proposals with President Traywick.

Robin Moore To Finish 1965 Institute Of World Affairs

The author of the explosive book, "The Green Berets," will wrap up this year's Institute of World Affairs lectures Wednesday.

Robin Moore will speak on "Viet Nam: What Kind of Victory?" at 8:15 p.m. in the University Auditorium.

Mr. Moore is not an arm-chair theorist. Getting permission from Lyndon Johnson's military aide, Mr. Moore enrolled in the Special Forces guerrilla warfare

After two years as an aerial gunner in World War II, he returned and completed his education at Harvard.

Upon graduation, Moore went to New York City and worked for three years in the burgeoning TV industry.

Whether talking about Viet Nam or about the more general problem of Communist tactics, Robin Moore has a revealing, informative and sometimes frightening report—but one that every American should hear.

Moore... final Institute speaker, training school at Fort Bragg, where he became the only civilian to win his jump wings.

In Viet Nam he lived and fought alongside the Special Forces through some of the most bitter and most inspiring moments of U.S. combat. In spite of the fact that correspondents traditionally are unarmed, Robin Moore never made a move without his automatic rifle—which accounts for the fact that he made it home to write his book.

Robin Lowell Moore, Jr.'s staid New England upbringing is not synonymous with tough jungle warfare. Oldest son of the Sheraton Hotels' Board Chairman, Mr. Moore attended Middlesex School in Concord, Mass.

Debaters Face Busy Schedule

A busy schedule is lined up for Omaha University's debaters this semester. The debate topic for this year is, Resolved: That law enforcement agencies should be given greater freedom in the investigation and prosecution of crime.

The Intercollegiate discussion question is "What shall be the policy of the United States in Southeast Asia?"

The proposed schedule of debates are as follows:

Nov. 5-6 — University of Colorado

Nov. 12-13 — OU's High School Invitational

Nov. 19-20—Bradley

Dec. 3-4—Iowa State

There are currently 15-20 students on the varsity debate squad.

Notice

The last day that a student can drop a class without receiving an automatic F grade on his transcript is November 12.

Fledgling TKE's Skip To Kansas

The pledge class of Tau Kappa Epsilon skipped last Friday, taking two captured actives to Kansas State University in Manhattan, Kans.

Thirty-two members of the pledge class caravanned their way to the Manhattan Teke house with the two actives, Jim Fous and Rich Kros, tied and gagged. Two pledges, as members of the OU band, stayed home to take part in migration ceremonies Saturday in Topeka.

Following rumors that the pledges were going to skip, four active TKEs also left Friday for Kansas in an attempt to get there first. But they had guessed the wrong college. After short stops at TKE houses in Lawrence and Emporia, they rambled in to Manhattan about 11 p.m.

TKE pledges often leave town for skip in order to gain better insight into fraternity life, according to pledge trainer Jim Knotek.

They all arrived home safely Sunday night.

Grain of Sand Names Literary Board

The editorial board for the Grain of Sand, OU's literary magazine is headed by Sally Shepard Schlew.

Other members of the board are: Jim Faiman, Linda Flack, Mark Hallgren and Gary Johnson.

The board decides which articles written by OU students will be published in the Grain of Sand which will be available around Dec. 1.

Elmwood To Open Lot to OU Students?

Fifty planned parking spaces in Elmwood Park may or may not benefit Omaha University students.

The decision is yet to be made by the Omaha Parks and Recreation Department.

The Gateway learned Tuesday that a parking lot for the Elmwood Park swimming pool is now under construction northeast of the facility. It's in the grading process now, and scheduled for completion by next June.

A natural facility for student parking, so it would seem...

But the Department is not exactly of the same opinion.

"The 50 spaces are for public use first," said Joseph Churchich, park superintendent Tuesday. "We aren't at all pleased with the parking situation created by students in Elmwood."

Churchich said it will be decided later if the lot will be open to students during the academic year.

"You students have completely sewed up parking in Elmwood," he said, "and we've had numerous complaints."

Churchich said O.U. students "seem to think they can park anywhere their cars will fit."

Jay Atwell Receives Crossman Scholarship

Jay Atwell, senior business major attending Omaha University this year on the Paul T. Crossman Memorial Scholarship he received.

This scholarship is presented to the outstanding senior accounting student in memory of Paul T. Crossman, head of the accounting department and faculty adviser to the Gamma Eta Chapter of the International fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi, 1949 to 1959.

Editorial Voice

A University of California sociologist says that sororities, long influential in manipulating the campus social order, now face extinction.

John F. Scott, professor of sociology at the University of California, Davis, says that the factors that caused the growth of these social institutions during the first half of the century have changed and that rigidly structured sororities are finding it more and more difficult to mesh with today's highly competitive campus society.

Dr. Scott, who has studied sororities in detail, says he finds them an outgrowth of society's efforts to control marriage and the selection of the "right man."

"University administrations are not as hospitable to Greeks as they once were," he says, citing regulation changes that tend to minimize the influence of Greek activities on campus. Extensive dormitory complexes are effectively competing with sorority housing and off-campus activities are proving as popular and as varied as sorority activities.

"But the worst blow of all to the sorority system comes from the effect of increased academic pressure on the dating habits of college men," Scott says. Academic competition on most campuses is keen and college men no longer have time for the form of courtship that made sororities so exciting, he says.

Scott concludes that the sorority system, "not likely to yield to change," will no longer be able to sustain itself. "When parents find that sorority membership does their daughter little good, the system as we know it will go into history," he says.

On the University of California's 27,500-student Berkeley campus, the predictions made by Dr. Scott are already beginning to come true.

Sorority rush participation was down this fall to 340 coeds as compared with 437 just a year ago. The dean of women's office could not explain this drop.

The sorority representative to the campus student government said, however, she felt the drop reflected a "steady trend."

"The drop has been about the same every year since I've been here," she said. "It has something to do with the way the university is changing."

Another trouble within the Greek system not mentioned in Dr. Scott's study is either implied or actual racial and religious discrimination. Last spring, the national Sigma Chi fraternity organization dropped the Stanford University chapter from its rolls after it had pledged a Negro. The national body said this was not the reason the chapter was dropped, however.

Because of the Stanford incident, which prompted Commissioner of Education Francis Keppel to warn that any institution of higher education allowing fraternities or sororities to discriminate would not qualify for federal funds, Sigma Chi is now under scrutiny at campuses across the nation.

At Yale University, the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity chapter just voted to go local in opposition to its national's membership selection policies. The chapter had pledged the first Negro in the history of the national last spring and had subsequently been subjected to heavy pressures from the parent body.

This fall, the chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority at the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C., terminated its affiliation with the national group. The local chapter had just joined in May. Pam Hull, chapter president, said the decision was made after some chapter members attended the sorority's national convention in New York City.

"During the convention," she said, "I discovered policies of the organization which had not been made known to our group when we joined." Informed sources within the chapter have made it known on campus that the "unacceptable principles and tradition" involve discrimination.

Four national fraternities and two sororities took their fight to remain at the State University of New York at Buffalo all the way to the New York Supreme Court. The school had adopted a policy that national Greek organizations would have to leave campus or drop their national ties after this school year.

In a July decision denying the sororities and fraternities the right to remain at Buffalo, Justice Matthew J. Jansen said the school had the right to regulate its own student organizations.

Permit Fee Suggested

By Bob Erxleben

The University Board of Regents will meet November 18 to discuss the continual problem of student parking.

Administrative Dean Kirk Naylor says that enrollment has only risen 670 this year . . . but 2,000 more parking permits have been issued.

Various suggestions have been made to finance additional facilities, ranging from raising meter fees to charging a minimum parking fee rather than an hourly rate.

Suggestion

Assuming the Board is open for suggestions, here is one idea for them to ponder between now and November 18th:

Why not charge a fee for parking permits on a semester basis? The per capita meter fee a semester should average out to twenty or twenty-five dollars for each permit holder.

This would eliminate the need for campus police, meter collections, meter maintenance and repair, and . . . yes . . . METERS!!

This should amount to quite a savings, besides giving the administration a lump sum rather than piecemeal funds on a day-to-day basis.

While this is not a catch-all solution to the parking problem, it may be a step in the right direction—at least in the finance department.

Execs Meet With Seniors

"If you had it to do over, would you do it again?" This was the question Omaha University president, Dr. Leland Traywick, charged the seniors to ask their table hosts at the Rotary Club-sponsored Senior Executive Day Luncheon Tuesday.

The seniors, guests of the Rotary Club had the opportunity to meet with and talk to a number of Omaha business men and to discuss business opportunities in Omaha.

The three main speakers at the luncheon were, Richard Herman, president of Herman Bros. Inc.; Jack Maenner, president of T.H. Maenner Co.; and Ray McMartin, president of McMartin Industries Inc.

Maenner said that business opportunities were there if you took time to find them. Herman, who will be the 1966 State Chairman of the American Cancer Crusade, said man had basic obligations and the one most neglected was government. Business and government need communications set-up and "it is up to us to fill this communications breakdown."

McMartin brought a product called "instant success" and told the seniors of its ingredients: determination, experience, hard work and integrity.

One hundred and fifty seniors attended the luncheon.

Each week journalism students gather for a critique of the current GATEWAY. The session is known as "Blood Bath." Lately it has needed a transfusion.

Univ. Studies Returns High

OU Comedy Picks Cast

Van Dyke Gets Flying Award

The "student explosion" has definitely reached Omaha U. A prime example is the University Studies division of the University.

Usually two out of three students return for their second year in this program. However three out of four of those eligible for re-enrollment returned this fall.

University Studies Director Charles Harkness says this is a "remarkable" return rate. He believes that this trend is typical in all colleges of the University and throughout much of the nation.

He attributes this new trend to a combination of higher qualifications needed for jobs and the war in Viet Nam.

A total of 820 students enrolled in the University Studies this fall. Mr. Harkness estimates there are now 805 to 810 still in the program.

Of this number about 300 are in their second year at the University. About 100 students who finished their first year in University Studies choose not to return.

Over 500 "new" students entered the program this fall. They are "new" because they have: (1) never been in a university before, (2) have been re-admitted after a year's suspension or (3) have transferred from another university.

"The ratio between second year and first year students is about what can be expected," he concluded.

Grads-Apply For Fulbright

U.S. Government Scholarships provided by the Fulbright-Hays Act are part of the educational and cultural exchange program of the Department of State. Their purpose is to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and other countries through the exchange of persons, knowledge, and skills.

A bachelor's degree, or its equivalent, must be obtained before the beginning date of the grant. This is one of the few eligibility requirements. Competitions for the 1966-67 academic year opened on May 1, 1965.

The Fulbright Program Adviser at Omaha University is George Helling, Ph.D., head of the sociology department. Anyone interested in this program should contact Dr. Helling.

Arnold Air Society Wants Old Clothes

A city-wide clothing drive is being conducted from the University of Omaha. The drive, being held from Monday, November 8 to November 13, is being sponsored by the Arnold Air Society in behalf of the Omaha Boys Club. The AAS wants old clothes, athletic equipment, workshop equipment, and books.

All those on campus who wish to donate goods are asked to bring them to the Cadet Staff Room in the 'White House' behind the Administration Building. Cadet Captain Henry R. Blair is chairman of the drive.

"The funniest comedy in the history of the English language," is what the critics say about the second University Theater production. The play "School for Scandal" will be presented December 2, 3, and 4 in the University Auditorium.

The cast for the show was selected this week by the play's director, Dr. Edwin L. Clark. Cast members are Larry French, David Strongin, Roger Farrand, Gregg Lose, Dennis Madigan, Joe Schik, David Rose, Clark Lipfert, and Allan Parham.

Other cast members include: John Prescott, Tom Conlon, Steve Soucek, Nancy Schniederwind, Barbara Kucera, Michele Vaughn, Judy Kirkpatrick, Alice Hewitt, Bob Jorgensen, Ralph Fredericksen, and Jim Wicka.

Captain Milton W. VanDyke II, USAF, a bootstrapper at the University of Omaha, was presented the Air Medal last Thursday. Captain VanDyke received the medal for distinguished, meritorious service over the continent of Europe from July 1961 to April 1965. During this time, Captain VanDyke flew 605 highly critical missions and totaled 1216 flying hours.

The medal was presented by Major Kenneth A. Dyer, Professor of Aerospace Studies at OU. The presentation was a twofold coincidence, since Captain VanDyke had served for three years in Germany under Major Dyer, who also received the Air Medal himself in September.

Tidbits From The Butcher Shop

Let's Go West . . .

The old cry is being heard again and it refers to expansion of the CIC into possibly an eight team league. In the past there has been lots of discussion by various coaches and officials who had good ideas but not the influence to do something about it.

Now a committee is looking into the matter of expansion, realizing that if something is not soon accomplished along this line, that the CIC will die the same slow death that many small school leagues do.

First, the Presidents of the CIC schools will be meeting in a very short time to discuss what should be done in this direction.

Then, on November 12th, the athletic directors of the five schools will meet to chat about what the presidents recommended and what the ideas are of their own.

On December 3rd, the faculty representatives from the CIC members will meet at Topeka and formulate plans for a three to four man delegation that will visit the campuses of schools to be invited to join.

High on the list of schools to be invited are: Kearney State, Morningside, South Dakota State, William Jewell and one or two Missouri colleges.

The problem here lies in the fact that these schools are already members of conferences, and with the exception of Kearney, members of the NCAA College Division. Omaha U is not a member of that body.

Then there is the feeling that Pittsburg State would not like the entrance of these Northern schools because it would increase their travel costs. Right now, Pittsburg is sitting pretty with a schedule that includes the Missouri schools and the CIC. The farthest they have to travel is to Omaha, and that saves a lot of money.

Also, Pittsburg and Emporia State have made it known that they would like to be members of the NCAA College Division in relation to basketball programs.

Kearney has said before that it feels it could not compete with Omaha and the CIC schools in the area of grants-in-aid and total athletic budgets. This has to rank as the laugh of the year.

William Jewell competes with Omaha in baseball, cross country and track. The small Missouri private school has excellent facilities that were chosen as the training camp for the Kansas City Chiefs of the AFL this year. They have a 10,000 seat stadium that is the equal of any in this conference.

South Dakota State and Morningside, as well as South Dakota U, are feeling the pinch on budgets in the North Central Conference that is being made by the rapid emergence of North Dakota and North Dakota State as "major small schools" in terms of athletics. They might profit by a switch.

It will be a long road to getting the right group but it has to be done if we are to stay clear of traps set up for us as independents or members of a weak and mediocre conference like the CIC is at present.

And then there was George . . .

Remember (how could any OU football fan forget) George Bork? George—the Northern Illinois quarterback who passed Omaha U and many other football teams dizzy during his four years of collegiate ball.

Remember George setting an all-time high completion mark of 36 passes against OU? He was heralded as an aerial wizard, a master of the forward pass, a sure bet to make the pros.

This is a progress report on George, and like many other college quarterbacks, Bork hasn't yet made the grade in the pros.

George is a second-year-pro with the Montreal Alouettes in the Canadian Football League and is currently riding an 11-game bench streak. On the Montreal quarterback depth chart he's listed behind such unknowns as Bernie Faloney, Don Fuell, Larry Fairhold and Jim McKean. Faloney, by the way, was the CFL's Eastern Conference Player of the Year, and this is probably part of the reason George hasn't played any.

George has been scouting and charting other teams in the league for Montreal. He does get to practice every day, but that's where his similarity to a pro football player ends. He hasn't suited up for a game yet this year.

It sort of shakes one into reality when the likes of a George Bork has a tough time making it in the CFL. I can just imagine George's fate if he had accepted a contract with an NFL or AFL team. He'd probably be George Bork—professional football inflater.

Hornets Unable To Jell

Unimpressive Emporia to Challenge Rampaging OU Tomorrow At 2 PM

by Leo Meidlinger

Omaha University's rampaging football Indians, winners of five straight games and holders of a 6-1 season mark, face another "underdog" Central Intercollegiate Conference foe, Emporia State, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock on OU Stadium turf.

The Kansas Hornets come visiting tomorrow with an unimpressive 1-6 mark overall and an 0-2 CIC record.

Much Better Than Record

Scout Carl Meyers, who charted Emporia last Saturday in its 33 to 14 loss to Pittsburg State, labels the team as one that just hasn't been able to jell. "They're a much better ball club than their record indicates," Meyers said.

Meyers brought back a similar report about Washburn and for almost three quarters last Saturday the Ichabods certainly jelled against OU. Tomorrow's game could be much the same situation.

The Hornets, who ran as much as they passed in last week's setback, run their offense primarily off of two patterns—the tight slot and the pro-set.

Dual QB's

Senior Earl Hurst and junior Max Smith share the "dual" quarterback job. Smith is expected to get the starting call against the Indians tomorrow.

Meyers labelled both signal callers as adequate passers with a good amount of scrambling ability. He also indicated that if either quarterbacks "get hot" early through the airwaves it could be a long afternoon for the OU secondary.

Junior flanker back Lew Lane counted for most of the receptions and yardage last week against Pittsburg. Meyers rates Lane as a good receiver with deceptive speed and a good pair of hands. He's a 5-10, 165-pound junior.

On the ground the Hornets have halfback Bob Hicks and Bill Long.

Long is rated as the team's "best" runner. "He's hard-nosed and tough to tackle," Meyers reported. He's a 6-2, 190-pound sophomore.

Hicks is also a sophomore. The 5-10, 195-pounder is also a "hard-nosed" runner but hasn't acquired the polish of Long yet.

Up front the offense will have such performers as 6-2, 260-pound left tackle Jim Dorsey and 6-2, 205-pound Larry Devane clearing the path for the Hornet runners.

Too Many Sophs

Looking over the tentative starting offensive lineup I'd have to say the Kansas club is going to have a long day of it. With seven sophomores, three juniors and one freshman starting for the Hornets the lack of experience is definitely going to hurt.

Defensively Meyers couldn't find a real standout.

Once again, the general lack of experience hurts. Four seniors, five juniors, a sophomore and a freshman are included in defensive lineup.

Meyers labeled the club "not strong defensively."

All Go Offense

In reviewing last week's notes Meyers said all of OU's offensive patterns should come off pretty well against Emporia.

He indicated that the Indians should be able to trap up the middle, run weak side sweeps and off-tackle power plays extremely well against the Kansans.

He also said that OU's passing game should be able to click quite good against the Hornets. The Indians have been most successful this year with short patterns and Meyers said he sees no reason why the pattern of success should be broken this week.

All OU personnel survived the Washburn "game" quite well and should be a little tougher this week.

A Letdown???

The same question that arose last week—"Will the Indians let down any?"—might well be asked again this week.

OU head coach Al Caniglia says no. Caniglia says, "We're shooting to win them all. We don't want any ties and I think the boys know that no matter what happens between Fort Hays and Pittsburg tomorrow we're going to have to win here to stay in the title race."

Caniglia remembers very well what happened last year against the Hornets. With less than a minute to go the score was tied 12-12. The Indians did move the ball some 60 yards in that minute and score, but those miracle-like comebacks are what put grey hairs on a coach's head and longer hours into a player's practice schedule.

No Grey Locks For Al

I don't think Caniglia will add any grey locks Saturday. The Indians should wrap it up early —31-7.

OU Keeps Rolling

Second Half Surge Spurs Indians To 19-10 Triumph Over Washburn

by Mike Moran

Omaha's streaking Indians "switched rather than fight" last Saturday night and came on with a rush to beat Washburn, 19-10, at Topeka for win number five in a row and number two in the CIC.

Forced into a hole in the first half by Washburn's speedy half-backs Mel Myricks and Bob Sailors, the Indians mounted touchdown drives of 80 and 74 yards in the last two quarters to pull out the sixth Omaha decision in seven starts this fall.

The defending CIC champs got a 35 yard field goal from rookie Don Del Mazzio as the first quarter came to an end to take a brief lead. OU mounted a 67 yard sustained drive that ended when battering Bill Dodd, voted the game's outstanding player, crashed over from the five. George Blankenship's lone placement of the night gave Omaha a brief 7-3 lead.

The Ichabods came roaring back with a 75 yard touchdown drive that consumed all but two minutes of the second period and was aided by a 15 yard personal foul call against Indian tackle Ed Jackson in one of the night's real officiating gems.

He what?

Jackson lifted a short forearm into a Washburn lineman just after the whistle on a running play. The usually harmless move resulted in Jackson's immediate ejection and put the ball on the Omaha 22.

The Washburn drive gave Omaha's explosive troops nary a chance to get their hands on the ball during the entire second quarter.

Things changed rapidly in the second half after a change of game plans by head Coach Al Caniglia and his staff. Pressbox observer Carl Meyers noted that the Washburn flanks might be easily swept with the power thrusts of Little All-America Gerry Allen, Dodd and scrambling Marlin Briscoe.

So sweep and sweep they did the second half. It almost resulted in disaster when Allen fumbled on the Omaha 26 just after the half and a Blue defender ran it to the OU six where it was first and goal.

Four plays later, the stout Omaha defense had the ball back on the 15 and Washburn had zeroes on the rushing chart.

So it was back to the sweeps... first Allen to the right, then Dodd to the left. Then it was Briscoe scrambling to the outside. The end result was trampled Washburn linemen and an 80 yard touchdown drive in seven plays. Briscoe got the tally around left end from the seven. Blankenship's kick never made it as the snap was high.

And again...

There was no doubt about the outcome from that point on. Back came the OU Panzers for more. This time it was 74 yards in twelve plays with the big one a 47 yard pass from Briscoe to split end Billy Haas that carried to the Blue 13. Allen got the big one from the two.

This time Blankenship was thrust into the role of a passer as the snap was again high. George's first collegiate pass was less than spectacular as it sailed out of bounds five yards behind Jimmy Jones.

Omaha's regular center on placement, Harold Lenz, was on the bench with his hand in a cast and the job was forced on offensive center Ken Pelan, who is already a converted tackle.

The rest of the game was anticlimatic. Washburn's early zip was all gone and so was OU's. Two more potential Omaha threats went by the boards as third down passes from Briscoe fell incomplete. The Magician, fifth in the nation in NAIA statistics, got only five completions in 12 attempts for 95 yards, his lowest output of the year... but for good reason.

The Omaha ground game was overpowering for the second week in a row. Allen's knife-like thrusts earned the Massilon senior 105 yards in 20 tries. Dodd's battering netted 86 yards in 14 carries, his best of the season. And Briscoe's hell-bent-for-leather scrambles chalked up 65 yards in ten carries for the talented junior.

The eighth rated Omahans dominated play in the second half despite the jazzy first half show by a good Washburn eleven that will be better before the season ends, and with only two seniors, a terror next year.

The winless Ichabods played what coach Ed Linta called their finest game of the year. The 400 Omaha fans who made the "Migration" trip saw the makings of a championship OU team that fought back when the chips were down.

Borsheim: 'Blending Is Key To Successful Cage Season'

Head basketball coach Jim Borsheim is looking forward to the 1965-66 cage season at Omaha University with "guarded optimism."

Seven lettermen are returning off of last year's 10-13 club, which started strong but faltered when scholastic ineligibilities and financial difficulties stripped five players from the team.

Borsheim lost only one starter from last year, 6-7 center Larry Villnow. "But, the dapper coach admitted, "he had been our big man and the leader in our attack for four years."

Borsheim

The Key

The key to a successful season as Borsheim sees it is the blending of the returnees with the transfers and freshmen.

6-5 Sam Singleton was the big loss last year, but the high-scoring junior has won his battle with the books and Borsheim expects him to be OU's top threat this season.

Dennis Browne, a 6-6 transfer from the University of Missouri, should fit into the post slot vacated by Villnow. Borsheim tabs him as the "strongest player on the team," and he's expected to be the club's chief board man.

One thing I noticed about Browne was his all out desire and determination at practice. He should be a dandy.

Guard Corps Strong

There's plenty of strength returning in the guard corps.

Brothers Charlie and Jimmy Meyers, both three-year veterans, are the top holdovers. Both play an exciting brand of basketball.

Carter Mobley, an all-stater from Morristown, New Jersey is one of the top freshman hopes. He's from the same school that produced the high-scoring Singleton.

Frosh John Padden, an all-city choice at Creighton Prep, and John Armstrong, a transfer from Norfolk Junior College are also expected to be among the top battlers for a guard spot. Armstrong gained all-state laurels his senior year at Omaha Central.

Singleton is almost assured a starting forward job, but there will be a hotly-contested showdown for the other spot.

Forward Job Battle

Sophomore letterman Bill Haas from Ralston, at 6-3½, looks like the best bet, but he won't report until after football season and any one of seven other players could have the position wrapped up by then.

6-6 Steve Mitchell, a transfer from the University of Kansas, 6-3 Jim Vincent from Omaha South, former Sacred Heart scoring machine Dick Osterhaus, 6-2 Bernie Miller, 6-1 Norm Davis, 6-foot Jim Albin and 6-3½ Steve Exon are all given a chance to nail down the starting job.

The only player challenging Browne for the center's job is 6-5 Dave Poindexter, a freshman from Omaha North, who didn't compete last year.

Borsheim, with his guarded optimism, is picking defending Central Intercollegiate champion Pittsburg State as the team to beat again this year. "But," he declared, "if our defense improves and our new men jell, we'll figure in the race."

Satellites upended the Black-shirts 7-0 for the League II title Tuesday afternoon in flag football. The Satellites will now play the Fugitives, champions of League I on Monday, November 8 for the overall championship.

The game will start at 3:30. Both league winners were undefeated with 7-0 records.

On November 9, an all star game will be played at 3:30. The all-star teams, picked yesterday, are:

First team; Gary Paporella, Larry Hamer, Joe Sturek, Max Kurz, Rich Vomacka, Larry Juul, Jim Carlson, Dennis Crum, Clyde Kettleson, and Myer Coren.

Second team; Doug Slaughter, Mike O'Doherty, Larry Merrill, Joe McCray, Charles Randone, Lance Foster, Ed Neel, Tom Maides, and Rich Tomasek.

Basketball Opens

The intramural basketball season will begin play on Wednesday, November 10. The league will continue through March with a tournament ending the season.

All games will be held at the University Field House.

Record Mile

The Striders, with a record time of 21:12 won the intramural One-Mile team race October 29 at the campus track.

The team, composed of Don Glasgow, Ed Neel, Bob Smiley and Earl Witt, easily defeated the second place team, Pi Kaps, by 1:15.

The other teams, in order of finish, were: Lambda Chi, Sig Eps I, TKE, and Theta Chi and Sig Eps II in a tie.

In archery, the final round saw Doug Powell take individual honors with a score of 1418 to Bill Vassel's 1341, the nearest competitor.

Indiannes and band members are busily preparing for the half-time ceremony last Saturday at Topeka's Washburn University. Band director Jack Malik, Mrs. Malik, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tilton, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. John Beeson chaperoned nearly 100 OU students on this year's official migration.

"Winning" Artist Displays Talent For OU Exhibit

An exhibit of paintings and drawings by Michigan artist Stefan Davidek opened Thursday in the Milo Bail Student Center in Room 313.

Mr. Davidek has exhibited his works nationally in such places as Detroit, the Haystack Mountain School where he had a show, and the West Michigan show in Grand Rapids where he came off with the "Best of Show" prize.

The artist's teaching experience has been at the Haystack Mountain School of Crafts in Deer Hole, Michigan in 1960 and 1965.

The exhibit of his drawings will run through November 26. Those wishing to purchase any of the works may contact the Art department.

OU Twirling McGuire Sisters Give Final Show Tomorrow

Kathleen Ann and Marleen Kay McGuire, two twirling sisters who are completing their senior round at the University, will give their final performance with the marching band for the Parent's Day game at OU this Saturday.

The girls began giving half-time shows with the band during their freshman year and they have been swinging the batons ever since.

Both girls are majoring in education. Kathleen, who is one year older, will be graduating this January while Marleen plans to stay on till June.

According to Kathleen, they picked up the majorette ambition when they were in the first grade. The duo has gathered a host of awards while perfecting themselves.

Marleen was "Miss Majorette of Nebraska" for 1962-63.

When the band moves into its concert form, Kathleen trades her baton for a Bassoon and Marleen puts her talents into the flute.

In addition to being musically oriented, both girls are currently student teaching — Marleen at Oak Valley and Kathleen at George Norris.

Activities which the pair share jointly on campus include: Alpha Xi Delta, Angel's Flight, Kappa Delta Pi, Waokiya, SEA and Orchesis.

Kathleen is one up on her sister with her Corinthian membership.

Education Faculty Honored At Meet

The faculty of the College of Education was honored at a tea on Wednesday sponsored by the Student Education Association and Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary.

Speakers for the event were Dr. Joseph Dunn and Dean of Teacher Education Frank Gorman.

Officers for the upcoming year for Kappa Delta Pi are Ruth Ann Everman, president; Judith Hoevet, vice-president and Jennifer Cackin, secretary.

Other officers include Dr. Joseph Dunn, treasurer; Jacque Newcomer and Louise Foster, publicity co-chairman. Mrs. Doris Tabor is the faculty sponsor.

Get Directories In Checkroom

One half of the 4,000 student-faculty directories have been distributed through the first floor checkroom of the Milo Bail Student Center in the last ten days.

Besides faculty and student telephone and address listings, there is a section of yellow pages. The latter section lists various student-gear services available throughout Omaha.

Today is the last scheduled day of distribution, but the directories will be available through the checkroom as long as they last.

The newest landmark at OU is the ETV tower, which towers 372 feet above the "legal" building height of the surrounding area.

Three Part-time Speech Teachers Bring Their Experience To Class

Bringing experience to the classroom are three part-time speech instructors at the University of Omaha who are pros in the radio-television field.

They are Dave Blackwell, sports director for KMTV; Dale Munson, disc jockey for WOW radio and Gary Marx, who has his own radio and television show on WOW.

Formal teaching is new to all three.

Blackwell

Blackwell regards teaching as somewhat different from television work. He remarked, "It is an egocentric way of living for yourself." However, he added that the two fields are common in that "both take quick thinking. You have to be aware of what's going on at all times."

Of prime concern to Blackwell in teaching his courses is "To give the speaker confidence to unveil. A person does not have to be a pro to be a speaker."

Blackwell majored in speech at the University of Wisconsin and is a 1960 graduate of that school.

Munson

Dale Munson finds teaching a gratifying experience for a person who enters the field for the first time. "I enjoy the field," he remarked, "Because there is great satisfaction in helping people learn and express themselves." There are vast differences too, in the classroom and the studio in his eyes. "You can see the people you're talking to and speaking to and a class is more formal because of the formal situation. On radio you can only visualize your audience. In the classroom you have a captive audience."

Munson graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1957 with a major in speech and minor in journalism.

When Dr. John Brilhart, head of OU's Speech Department, asked Gary Marx if he would like to teach he said he "jumped" at the opportunity. Marx has felt he always wanted to teach and has found his "broadcast ability and teaching directly related because the elements of procedure are the same." Marx added he feels at home in the classroom because "when speaking on radio if you make a gesture it shows in your voice the same as it would show in the classroom."

Marx is a 1960 graduate of the University of South Dakota at Vermillion. He majored in speech and radio-TV and minored in business, history and Spanish.

Men To Sew In New Class

Ever seen yourself as Napoleon? Or Henry VIII? Or, depending on your gender, perhaps you have a Cleopatra or Guinevere complex.

If such is the case, the University of Omaha Speech Department is now offering a class in "Costuming Techniques" that should help a person to at least "dress the part."

Actually, the course as taught by Mesdames Dorothy Ruge and Jean Erdenberger has a more serious aim in view. And, that is developing an understanding among their students of theatrical arts.

'By the Book'

"Most colleges teach a course like this strictly by the book," Mrs. Ruge emphasized, "But we are also teaching students the practical side. In our course, students will learn to research and make their own costumes, as well as learn how to build and maintain a wardrobe, how to run a show and how to get an actor on the stage, so that he moves with ease in his costume."

Both instructors are well-qualified to advise the fledgling costumers. Mrs. Erdenberger, who handles the lecture portion of the course, holds a master of arts degree in theatre. Mrs. Ruge has been a designer for 30 years and a costumer for the past eight, six of which were spent in work at the Omaha Playhouse. She handles the twice-weekly laboratory sessions the course requires.

The semester project for the course will be slightly unusual. "Instead of a term paper, the students will make a costume," Mrs. Ruge noted, "They may make one of their own personal choosing or can develop one for the University Theatre productions."

Since there are six males in the class of 17, the mention of the word "sewing" brought a predictable reaction. "I thought we were going to have six heart attacks," Mrs. Erdenberger remarked, "But they eventually recovered!"

OU Tournament Draws Debaters

The eleventh annual Omaha University Kickoff Debate Tournament found some 250 debaters from 28 colleges and universities representing nine states at OU last week-end.

Patricia Mullany and Barbara Stokes paced the OU debaters as they won first place in the varsity division. Pat and Barbara were the only team in the varsity division undefeated as they won debates from Southern Illinois, Morningside College, University of Wyoming, University of Montana, and the University of Nebraska. These two OU debaters have not been defeated this season. One point worth mentioning: Both of these students are freshman and will be around for quite some time.

18 Wins and 16 Losses

Sixteen students were entered in these debates from OU and won over 50 percent of their debates. The combined record in the varsity and novice division for OU was 18 wins and 16 losses.

In the varsity team winners were: first; University of Omaha, second; University of Nebraska, third; Kearney State.

Novice division team winners were: first; University of Nebraska, second; University of Wyoming, third; tie among University of Arkansas, University of Wyoming, and University of Nebraska.

No Individual Winners

In the individual events Omaha U. failed to take top honors.

This weekend six OU students will go to Boulder, Colorado to compete in debates at the University of Colorado. OU debaters are Patricia Mullany, Barbara Stokes, Jim Foral, and Marty Williams in the varsity division, and Sue Clarke and Janet Voelte in the novice division.

Educators Can Boast Award, New Course

A member of the elementary education department has received an award and the elementary department is offering a new course.

Miss Helen Howell of the elementary education department has been cited as an Outstanding Young Woman of America by a nationwide publication, "Outstanding Young Women of America." The publication recognizes young women of outstanding ability, accomplishments, service to their community, country and profession.

Miss Howell was nominated by Zonta International, a service organization. Those nominated must be between the ages of 21-35, active in their field, contributing their services to different organizations.

The department of elementary education is offering a new 300-level course—Teaching the Child of Three to Five. The course, taught by Mrs. Betty Beeson, is geared for the pre-school and kindergarten child.

The new course gained its impetus from the national interest in the pre-schooler, as seen in Project Head Start and Project Aid. It is designed, however, to help all pre-schoolers, rather than dealing specifically with the culturally deprived.

Zeta's, Lambda Chi's Win Cutest Pan, Ugliest Man

Nancy Stevenson of Zeta Tau Alpha and Mel Goff of Lambda

Nancy . . . Cutest Pan.

Chi Alpha will reign with pride as this year's Cutest Pan and Ugliest Man, and they have good reason to be proud, as their Greek organizations brought in over half of the total amount collected for the United Community Services.

The total amount collected was $1,270.55. Zetas contributed $508.33 of this, bringing in the largest amount by any single group. Next, Lambda Chi's collected $162.49, followed by $134.62 by Tau Kappa Epsilon.

A dance was held in honor of the Cutest Pan and Ugliest Man on Friday, Oct. 29 in the Milo Bail Student Center. The Echoes Combo provided music, and refreshments were sold.

Teke Replaces Lost Chi O Owl

by Livi Bergman

Whooo always keeps his word? Don McMichael does. At the Chi Omega-TKE exchange, Chi Omega Marcia Hanek lost her owl pin. The owl is the mascot of Chi Omega and the pin was Marcia's favorite.

Marcia was very sad about losing it, and Don McMichael heard about her distress. As a gallant TKE, he promised to get her another to replace it. And that is exactly what he did—a three foot tall stuffed owl perched on a limb. Marcia, who's just four feet-11 inches tall herself, had only one comment, "How do I pin it on and wear it?"

Corinthians Distribute Graduate Information

The Corinthian Society, scholastic honorary for juniors, will have a meeting Nov. 8.

The meeting will be held in room 309 of the Milo Bail Student Center at 4:30 p.m. Dr. Edwin Clark will be the guest faculty member.

The Corinthians have also distributed information for all those

Men's P.E. Honorary To Form on Campus

The appearance of three guests on the Omaha University campus may indicate a new organization on campus.

The new organization is Pi Epsilon Kappa, a national men's physical education honorary fraternity.

The three visitors were J. G. Geier, area representative for the fraternity; and Don Langdon and Carl Wear, University of Nebraska P.E. instructors and members of the fraternity.

The now disbanded men's P. E. Majors and Minors Club will form the nucleus of the fraternity, but the decision to form a chapter is only the first step.

There are numerous requirements and procedures that must be fulfilled before any formal application may be submitted to the national headquarters. This may take three to four months.

However, things look promising according to Russ Gorman, sponsor of the group.

interested in graduate study to the Deans of the various colleges. This information will be temporarily posted on the second floor of the Student Center.

The Greek Grind

The Roaring Twenties will be the theme for the Tau Kappa Epsilon—Zeta Tau Alpha exchange to be held tonight at Fairmont Park.

The Rogues combo will provide music and refreshments will be served.

New Club Acquaints Students With Educational Opportunities

The Recreation Education Society, an honorary club for students in the College of Education, is open for new members.

The RES is based on a recreation leadership program and is designed to acquaint students with the wide variety of positions and opportunities in the field of recreation, as well as the preparation for it.

The leaders of this group feel that many students are not aware of the opportunities open to them in the field of recreation. If the annual number of jobs to be filled continues at the present rate, there will be a need for 30,- 000 additional leaders by 1969, yet, less than 1,000 professional recreation students will be graduated each year. The University of Omaha is one of the few universities providing a major in recreation leadership training.

Faculty advisor for this group is Mr. Ernest F. Gorr. Meetings will be in the form of carry tray Luncheons on the first and third Thursdays of each month in the Student Center Alcoves. They will be from 11:30 to 1:30.

Anyone wishing to join may come to a meeting or contact either Mr. Gorr, A.A. 209, or Burney Ramming, 455-3545.
